

Information Needed for a UTS Supply Chain Analysis

A UTS analysis provides valuable insight into your supply chain performance. It breaks down your activity by mode, type, service, cost, and more, highlighting opportunities for improvements along the way.

We want to give you the most thorough analysis we can. To do this, we need a reasonable representation of your supply chain activity. This includes, for each shipment:

- Ship date
- Origin and destination ZIP codes
- Weight
- LTL freight classification(s)
- Shipment charges
- Special pricing (FAKs, pallet rates, etc.)

Our analysis is enhanced with the following information:

- Names and addresses of shippers and consignees
- Freight descriptions
- Carrier for each shipment
- Shipment charges broken out by type (base charge, fuel surcharge, and each accessorial)
- Pickup and delivery requirements
- Sample BOL for each product
